ABSTRACT

Displaceable optics in microscope illumination, particularly a displaceable collector, comprising an outer guide sleeve and a preferably cylindrical optics housing which slides in the guide sleeve, characterized in that Teflon strips are provided between the optics housing and guide sleeve for flexible centering of the optics.

5